59TH ANNUAL INSTITUTE

Teachers Told at Opening Session of the Importance and Responsibility of their Work. To Celebrate Lincoln Anniversary.

Over two hundred Adams County teachers were present at the opening session of the fifty ninth annual institute in Walter's Theatre this afternoon. The importance of the teaching profession and the responsibility resting upon all those who engage in it were forcibly brought out in the address of welcome by Prof. Franklin W. Moser, of Gettysburg, who said in the course of his remarks:

"Above all, beyond the conception of all, let me welcome you in the name of the children who sit in your classrooms. To a period of inspiration you have come that you may them inspire; to a fresh fountain that you may quench their thirst. It is not for yourself that you are here—it is for them. Out of every vision you here attain opens the wistful face of a child; up from every note you here take burns his eager gaze.

"There is an old legend which tells how long, long ago the city of Is was swallowed by the sea. When a storm sweeps the surface of the deep, the lonely sailor sees the tall spires of the sunken city in the hollows of the waves, and when a profound calm broods over the waters he hears the sound of its bells rising from the caverns of the sea. In this is embodied the thought I would leave with you.

"Within the bosom of every child lies a fabled dream city. Yours is the privilege of touching the waves with the finger of inspiration so that the towers of that city shall rise above the level of the common self. Yours is the privilege of hearing the dim voices of the past break out, like bells, from the depths of being, into full cry; of tuning and harmonizing them into a song to make glad the hearts of men. No other has like privilege, no other similar opportunity. The kingdoms of the world are yours, not for casting yourself down from the pinnacle of the temple, but for raising others up to catch the sweeping visions of a wider life.

"Isben has most graphically portrayed this in his play, 'The Master Builder'. Old Solness has determined to be a builder for the world. Accordingly he first erects a church vast and beautiful beyond conception, but within it finds hypocrisy and jealousy, falseness and inhumanity. Then he builds houses, vast and beautiful beyond conception, but within them arises so much discord and envy, so much strife and bitterness, that Solness has about concluded that to build for the world is impossible. Then he sees that his neglected wife is also a builder—a builder of 'children's souls in perfect balance', that hers is the talent for enabling them to spring into erect and full grown humans. Others, in derision, call her work building castles in the air, but Solness knows that she is the true Master Builder. The Master Builder—what an epitaph for anyone."

Lincoln Celebration

One of the features of the week will be the exercises on Wednesday afternoon—the fiftieth anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. William McSherry Esq. will tell the history of the Soldiers' National Cemetery; four short addresses will be made by Prof. Calvin Hamilton, Hon. Wm. McClean, Dr. T. C. Billheimer and Dr. P. M. Bickle, telling of their memories of Lincoln's visit to Gettysburg; Judge S. McC. Swope will read the Lincoln Speech and the oration will be delivered by Rev. J. B. Baker. Dr. A. E. Wagner will make the prayer and there will be special music. Chairs will be provided on the stage for all those who were present in Gettysburg on November 19, 1863.

POINTED A GUN

William A. Bigham Gives Bail for Appearance at Court.

A warrant was served by Constable Shearer Saturday afternoon on William A. Bigham, who resides near the jumping station of the Gettysburg Water Company, charged with pointing a gun at Robert Caldwell, superintendent of the company. Mr. Caldwell, with several men drove to the road entering the Water Company property Saturday morning and were about to unload some ground to improve their right-of-way when Mr. Bigham and his son appeared, both armed with shot guns. The former is alleged to have threatened to shoot if any one attempted to shovel off any of the ground on the wagon and John Sachs and Alonzo Nagle, accompanying Mr. Caldwell, fearing injury, refused to go ahead with the work. Mr. Caldwell mounted the wagon and shoved off several spadefuls of earth, while Mr. Bigham, it is said, stood with the gun leveled at his head and not more than six feet distant, threatening to shoot if he kept on. Mr. Caldwell has a crippled arm caused by several recent operations and he continued his work until the pain became unbearable. He then returned to town, laid information and Mr. Shearer served the warrant. Mr. Bigham came to town and gave bail in the sum of $500 before Squire Hill for his appearance at Court.

BUCKNELL 23 GETTYSBURG 0

Old Rivals from Lewisburg Prove too Strong for Gettysburg Boys and Win by One Sided Score. Locals Fought Hard.

After outplaying the Bucknell team in the first half of the annual battle at Harrisburg Saturday afternoon, Gettysburg was forced into submission in the closing quarters by the Lewisburg players, losing by a score of 23 to 0. Despite the fact that they were outweighed nearly ten pounds per man, Gettysburg put up a wonderful game in the opening periods, although Bucknell scored in each.

The storm of rain and sleet which fell throughout the game was not sufficient to dampen the spirit of the collegians or the 2,000 spectators who had gathered to witness the game. In the closing minutes of the battle spirit, that is college spirit, ran high and several fights started between the collegians.

Despite the rain and sleet the game was mostly one long series of forward passes with the Lewisburg players featuring in nearly all of these. Cruickshank's passing was very little short of marvelous, when it is considered that the ball was nearly always covered with a layer of mud. With two exceptions his passes, though low, were accurate and the fault that more were not successful was due the inability of his players to handle them.

Bucknell scored their first points near the end of the first quarter when Cruickshank kicked a placement goal from the thirty-yard line. In the second quarter Sturgis on a wide end run eluded the Gettysburg players and scored, later kicking the goal. Bucknell's other touchdowns came in the third and fourth periods, Cruickshank and Platt each getting one.

In the last quarter Cruickshank kicked a field goal but the Bucknell coach substituted a player without removing the other from his position and it was not permitted.

Gettysburg kicked off, the ball going to Platt, who fumbled and recovered the ball. Topham carried it out of bounds and it was brought to the 20-yard line. Cruickshank then made eight yards through the line and then two more for a first down. Topham made eight around right and Gdnalc three more and a first down.

Cruickshank slipped on the next play and was thrown for a loss. After a series of unsuccessful forward passes Gettysburg got the ball. Scheffer made several good gains and got away for a thirty-four yard gain. Gettysburg fumbled and Bucknell recovered the ball.

Sturgis, Topham and Cruickshank carried the ball to Gettysburg's thirty-yard line where Cruickshank booted it between the goal posts from placement for the first score. Throughout the remainder of the quarter Gettysburg outplayed Bucknell.

In the opening of the next period Gettysburg played hard, Scheffer getting away on a twenty-five yard run. Poffenberger and Hoar gained. Bucknell recovered a forward pass and on a series of plays Sturgis went around left end for a touchdown and kicked the goal. Score, Bucknell, 10; Gettysburg, 0.

Bucknell started with a rush and threw Gettysburg back on every play. After an exchange of punts with the Bucknell players gaining on each, Topham received one of Scheffer's punts and ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Gdnalc missed the goal.

In the last quarter Gettysburg weakened and was unable to stand the pace set by Bucknell. Forward passes further demoralized them and Platt scored another and last touchdown, following this with a goal.

Mahaffie made the longest run of the day in a play shortly after this, making a 55-yard run to Bucknell's twelve-yard line. Here Bucknell held and the game ended with the ball in their possession on the forty-eight yard line.

COUNTY APPLES TO ORPHANAGE

Adams County Orchardists Quick to Contribute their Fine Fruit to the Hoffman Orphanage Near Two Taverns.

Rev. J. Stewart Hartman, superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, reports that he has received a bountiful supply of apples for present needs, and adds:

"Arthur Roberts, a committee of the Arendtsville congregation, used his good offices and informed us that he would have 45 bushels of apples for cider and apple butter. Our team went the 15 miles and returned, bringing the amount designated, and five barrels of winter apples in addition. This congregation has 15 additional barrels for us, which will be brought later.

"Last week we went into the Cash-town charge, of which Rev. W. S. Hartzel is pastor, where we knew there was a generous supply awaiting us. We were not disappointed when our wagon returned, as it had 72 bushels for cider and apple-butter, and one barrel, contributed by some of the largest apple growers in the county. We do not think the apples of our apple-belt can be surpassed anywhere, and our children declare the apple-butter provided by these gifts 'is the best ever.' The contributions from the Cash-town charge were made by a few individuals: Sheely Brothers, 32 bushels; John Shull, 30 bushels; H. E. Riddlemoser, 10 bushels, and J. P. Butt, a barrel of choice Winter apples.

"Our crop of potatoes was but one-half of the yield of last year, and we will need many to carry us to another harvest.

"Our children have been occupying some of their time out of the school room gathering shellbarks, of which we have a bountiful supply—perhaps eight bushels.

"We are in the midst of our plans for a cattle barn, advised by the State Live-Stock Sanitary Board. Our plans provide for the erection of only a portion at this time, and as our needs require and our herd grows, we shall add to it. We do not have the money, but we can't afford to again expose our herd to tubercular conditions, nor our children with contaminated dairy products."

HOME TALENT SHOW

Gettysburg Players to Produce Show for Fire Company Benefit.

"The Dust of the Earth" will be presented by a number of Gettysburg amateurs in Walter's Theatre on Thursday evening, December 4, for the benefit of the automobile engine fund of the Fire Company. The cast includes the following well known persons, Miss Mary Ramer, Miss Anna McCall, Miss Lily Dougherty, Mrs. R. H. Bushman, Charles E. Swisher, Albin McSherry, Edgar Miller, Erney Ziegler, Richard Mishler, Earl Stall-smith.

EXAGGERATION

Reports Concerning Horses Dying Grow in the Telling.

The report that from eighteen to twenty five dead horses are taken weekly to the Spangler and Oyler fertilizer plant is an exaggeration according to Mr. Spangler who says that, while sometimes three a day are brought there, the average is about eight a week. The largest number during the present year was fifteen in a week, the record being made during July.

IMMERSION

Many Witness Ceremony at Rock Creek on Sunday Afternoon.

The immersion of four members of St. John's Baptist Church at Bender's Bridge on Rock Creek Sunday afternoon was attended by a large crowd of interested participants and spectators. The creek was considerably swollen by the rains of Saturday night but the ceremony was carried out in every particular. A number of visiting elders and church members participated in the exercises.

ENGINE DERAILED TWO ARE INJURED

Six Hanover Men, who Brought Big Coal Train through Gettysburg are in Wreck Later in the Day. Two Hurt, Four Escape.

Two Hanover men were injured and four others escaped injury about noon Sunday when a locomotive of the Western Maryland Railway was derailed west of the tidewater extension, rolling down a bank for 25 feet and into Gwynns Run, Baltimore. All had come through Gettysburg earlier in the day with a Port Covington coal train. The men injured were:

Eugene F. Staub, engineer.—Badly scalded about back, chest and arms by steam and heat and hands badly cut. Condition not serious.

Harry W. Wilhelm, brakeman.—Shoulder dislocated and cut and bruised about body. Condition not serious.

Those who escaped injury were: Walter Lewis, brakeman; Charles Zinn, fireman; Harry Slagle, conductor; Morris Markel, flagman.

The train left Westport bound for Hanover shortly before noon. Only the caboose and tender were attached to the locomotive. Staub, Zinn and Wilhelm were in the cab, while the three other men were in the caboose.

Just east of the single-track bridge over Gwynns Falls under Brunswick street is a derailer, used to protect the eastbound track. The switch at the end of the track is really for the eastbound trains, and the derailer is there for use if there should be an eastbound train and a westbound train has not been signaled, the operator could derail it and thus avert a collision.

According to a statement issued after the accident by the officials of the Western Maryland, it is a rule of the company that all westbound trains should stop at this derailer. It was said by the officials that Staub neglected to stop and because of this the accident occurred.

The wheel of the locomotive struck this derailer and the big engine was thrown off the track about two inches. It ran straight along the ties for a distance of about 50 feet until it reached the switch diverting the eastbound traffic from the bridge. There it struck the switch frog and went back on the track, leaning, however, toward the falls. The strain was too much for the track, and after the locomotive had proceeded only about five feet after getting back on the track the rail broke and the locomotive was torn loose from the caboose and sent rolling down the embankment.

Staub was thrown forward against the boiler head when the locomotive was first derailed. Zinn was firing the boiler and Wilhelm was getting from the engine cab to the tender.

Zinn and Wilhelm were preparing to jump when the track broke and they were thrown down the bank just before the locomotive came tumbling down also. Both men stopped on the edge of Gwynns Run and neither was hurt. Zinn was unhurt, but Wilhelm's shoulder had been injured.

BEAR PLENTIFUL

Old Bear and Cubs Seen on South Mountain.

Benjamin Beckner, of Roodside, northeast of Waynesboro, while hunting in the vicinity of Sandy Ridge, South Mountain, came across an old bear and two cubs. Mr. Beckner did not attempt to kill the bears and they, in turn, did not manifest any intention of attacking him, but wandered off into the forest. It is reported that there are a number of bears in this section this year. During the open season at Pen-Mar Park a large bear entered the back porch of the cottage occupied by H. J. Klinebank, of Baltimore, who was summering at Pen-Mar, and ate the contents of a can that had been partially filled with fresh meat and provisions.

HUERTA OUSTS PEACE SEEKER

Minister of Interior Dismissed and May be Arrested.

HIS FOE BRINGS THE ORDER

He Was Awakened at Dawn by Foreign Minister Madero, Who Dictated
His Resignation.

Mexico City, Mex., Nov. 17.—Garza Aldape paid for his zeal as intermediary between Huerta and Wilson in the earnest endeavor to avert hostil-ties between Mexico and the United States, by his summary dismissal from Huerta's cabinet, where he held the portfolio of minister of the interior.

To add humiliation and ignominy to his fall from Huerta's good graces, Aldape's most bitter antagonist in the cabinet, Foreign Minister Madero, was delegated by Huerta to bear the bow-string to Aldape.

Madero went to Aldape's house with authority from President Huerta to demand the instant resignation of Aldape. Aldape, clothed in pajamas, shrugged his shoulders, sat down at his library desk and wrote his renunciation at Madero's dictation. There is a strong probability that Aldape will be arrested on accusations of sedition.

These charges, if made, will be based on the allegation that he conspired with O'Shaughnessy to co-operate with the United States to force Huerta out of office. The disgrace of Aldape, who was almost the only Conservative member in Huerta's cabinet remaining, and who stood alone, save for Finance Minister De La Lanza, in trying to dissuade Huerta from baiting the United States to the point of intervention, caused a profound feeling of pessimism among observers in Mexico City, who had hoped the influence of Aldape would prevail.

"I shall not quit," President Huerta reiterated. "I shall continue to put forth my best efforts to bring about the pacification of the country and thus fulfill the promise I made when I took office."

This came in reply to the suggestion of Sir Lionel Carden the British minister, and other members of the diplomatic corps, that he resign from the presidency.

De La Lanza's resignation is expected shortly, which will leave Huerta surrounded, so far as his cabinet is concerned, with intense Radicals, whose counsel almost surely will mil-litate against Huerta acceding in the lightest degree to any demands which Washington may make. The dismissal of Aldape removes from the cabinet
the last man who was chosen as members of Huerta's official family under the guidance of Ambassador Wilson in the embassy on the night Huerta executed his coup d'etat and imprisoned Madero.

Two members of the original cabinet, who were followers of Felix Diaz, namely, Rodolfo Reyes and Jorg Vera Esanol, who also were members of the last chamber of deputies, are both languishing in the penitentiary, accused of conspiracy.

They fell into Huerta's dragnet last month, when he threw troops into the chamber, arrested the deputies and dissolved congress.

Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, has engendered a general feeling of fear and unrest by issuing a warning to all the British residents in Mexico that they would do well to seek safety.

Shortly after sending broadcast this message, Minister Carden amplified it with a statement that he urged caution, particularly in the case of English persons in outlying districts. He added that the British government would exert every effort to aid its subjects in leaving their homes if that became necessary. He said that immediate notice would be given of any unusual developments.

Paul LeFavre, the French minister, said he had no intention of leaving the capital at this time, and had issued no warning to French residents, but that it was quite probable he would follow the example of the British minister.
He added that there was only a limited number of his countrymen outside the big cities.

The French minister's wife left Mexico City on Saturday night for Vera Cruz.

PASS ANTI-SLAVERY LAW

Measure Caused Heated Debate in the Philippine National Assembly.
Manila, Nov. 17.—An anti-slavery law was passed by the Philippine national assembly after a heated debate.

The measure, which was framed by William H. Phipps, the insular auditor, reaffirms the old Spanish statutes against slavery and incorporates the American laws.

The vote in opposition to the enactment of the measure was small in spite of the warmth of the discussion.

Boy Killed Trying to Escape.

New York, Nov. 17.—Casper Solle, twelve years old, plunged five stories to his death in a daring attempt to escape from a protective in the Bronx.
He was descending the face of an outside wall when he fell.

Roosevelt Leaves Buenos Ayres.
Buenos Ayres, Nov. 17.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by a party of prominent citizens, left on a trip into the interior of the country.

Girl in Duquesne, Pa., wore a silk skirt, man's socks and no petticoat.
Five thousand employees of a mill she passed quit work and rushed to the street.

JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN.

President of Cornell, Who Announced $4,350,000 Gift.

BIG GIFT FOR CORNELL

University Medical School in New York Gets $4,350,000.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 17.—An anonymous gift of $4,350,000 to the Cornell university medical school in New York city was announced by President Jacob Gould Schurman, of Cornell university.

Dr. Schurman said he was not at liberty to disclose the name of the donor and that no official announcement of it will be forthcoming. On account of his magnificent generosity to the Cornell medical school in the past, however, it is generally believed that the man who made this gift to the medical school is Colonel Oliver Payne, of New York city.

The gift was actually made to President Schurman in New York city last Friday, but no announcement of it was forthcoming until Sunday. The sum will insure the medical school a yearly income of about $200,000. None of the money is to be used for buildings, but will be devoted to paying the annual running expenses of the college. It will be used entirely on the medical school in New York city, none of it going to the Ithaca branch of the medical department.

ANTHRACITE COAL ROADS FACE PROBE

Commerce Commission to Investigate Rates.

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—A sweeping investigation into the rates and practices of the anthracite coal roads leading into Philadelphia was begun in this city today by the interstate commerce commission.

Commissioner John H. Marble is presiding and S. H. Smith and J. J.
Hickey, attorneys for the commission, are conducting the examination. The railroads are represented by Walker D. Hines, of New York, a prominent railroad lawyer; Jackson E. Reynolds, attorney for the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and Herbert A. Taylor, of the Erie.

The investigation has been undertaken to determine whether there have been any violations by the carriers of the interstate commerce laws in connection with the transportation of anthracite coal.

Also it will be asked whether the roads have observed the spirit of the recent "commodities clause" decision, which held that railroads could not transport commodities produced by themselves—in the case of coal.

The question of the reasonableness of the present freight rates on coal and whether the carriers discriminate against the independent shippers will comprise an important part of the inquiry. This will involve an investigation into the relations between the roads and whether, in connection with possible discrimination, any concerted policy exists among them.

Among the roads chiefly concerned are the Reading, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western the Lehigh Valley, the Pennsylvania, the Erie and the New York, Ontario & Western.

For the last few weeks investigators for the commission have been engaged in examining the records and correspondence of these roads, and a mass of evidence of this nature will be introduced. High officials of the roads have been called to testify, as well as officials of independent coal companies. The inquiry is expected to last at least three weeks.

Miss Wilson's Fiance Resigns Position
New York, Nov. 17.—Francis Bowes Sayre, the young assistant district attorney who is to marry Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the president's daughter, on Nov. 25, formally resigned his position with District Attorney Whitman today. He will become secretary to President Garfield, of Williams college, after his wedding trip.

"Infant Drops" Kill a Baby.
Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 17.—Six "infant drops," given to the three-months-old baby of Mrs. Charles Campbell, of Snydertown, to soothe it to slumbers, put the baby to sleep permanently.
The child was found dead in bed.

MILLER DEFENDS WHIPPING POST

Governor Says State Will Regulate Its Own Affairs.

WILL IGNORE CRITICISM

Delaware Executive Replies to Protests Against Relic of Barbarism and Warns Evil-Doers It Will Stay.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 17.—Despite the nation-wide protest against the continuance of the whipping post in the state of Delaware, Governor Charles R. Miller gave out a statement in which he declared that his state would continue to do as it pleased, without respect to the opinion of the nation in general.

Governor Miller's deft was issued, following a storm of protest against the public whipping of two negroes.
The punishment of the two men followed closely on an agitation started in congress to force Delaware to abolish its relic of barbarism—probably the last whipping post in the civilized world.

Governor Miller's statement reads:
"The courts and other legal authorities of the state of Delaware will administer the internal affairs of the commonwealth regardless of any attempted interference by a member of congress or of individuals residing in other states, who are ignorant of conditions and permit themselves to be misled by extravagant and highly colored newspaper articles.

"The persons who have written me numerous letters, some of them abusive and insulting to the citizenship of the state, should pause to consider that state government in America is based upon a statutory law by men elected by the people.

"I shall uphold the state's courts in the administration of the law and warn all evil-doers to give Delaware a wide berth if they wish to escape the whipping post."

He said the whipping post was the fundamental punishment for crime to evildoers in Delaware since 1656 and will continue to be so far as he is personally concerned until the people by their own free will decree otherwise.

Governor Miller personally favors the whipping post. He considers it one of the most effective barriers to vicious criminals, and points to the minimum record of crime in Delaware as largely due to the fear of the whipping post. With this mode of punishment abandoned he is of the belief that Wilmington would become a stopping off place for the biggest criminals in the country from the large cities with which Wilmington is in line, namely, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

CHUM KILLS LAD IN PLAY

High School Student Shot In Brain
While Boy Plays With Musket.
Bridgeton, N. J., Nov. 17.—While at play with companions Leroy Robinson, eighteen years old, a student at the Bridgeton high school, was shot and killed.

He and Theodore Law, Edgar Weldon and Howard Bailey were in the wagon shed of his father's home.

An old musket stood in one corner.
It had not been fired for years, and thinking that it was not loaded, the boys began snapping the hammer. It was finally discharged while in the hands of young Law, who is only fourteen years old. The charge entered just below Robinson's eye, piercing his brain, and he fell dead.

FEARS ARREST: HANGS SELF

Colored Man, Accused of Arson, Commits Suicide.

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 17.—Using a hitching trace chain to hang himself, Theodore Walker, colored, sixty years old, of Uniontown, Carroll county, committed suicide in a building on the farm of William J. Bankard, near Middleburg, after he had been accused by State Fire Marshal Myers of setting fire to a barn and four other buildings on the 100-acre farm that Walker owned near Uniontown.

A few days before the fire the farm had been sold at auction to satisfy his creditors, but the sale had not been ratified by the court.

Auto Drags Woman to Death.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Mrs.
John Kinnetz, this morning, was dragged 120 feet by an automobile which, during a snow flurry here, struck the carriage in which she was riding with her husband and niece. She died in the Seneca Falls hospital from concussion of the brain. Mr. Kinnetz escaped with a bruised side. The niece, Louise Kinnetz, was not injured.

Hopes For Soup Silencer.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 17.—Jim Stevens and George Pargins were dining at the same table in a Hammond restaurant. A fight followed. Jim pleaded in extenuation that when George drank his soup it sounded like water rushing into a drain. Judge E. H. Ames fined each man. He hoped that Maxim soon would invent a soup silencer.

DEER NEWS

Four Deer Killed on the Mountain in One Day.

The Monterey Club got its second deer Friday. William Sanders brought down a four-prong buck near Caledonia, late Friday evening.

Ray Heefner, of the Mont Alto club, shot an eight-prong buck Friday near the camp at Mont Alto.

Benjamin Young, of Burnt Knob, shot an 8-prong buck, weighing 188 pounds, Friday near the Gap.

George Bonar, Gap, killed a spike buck on Sandy Ridge, near the state road, weighing 65 pounds, Friday.

Reports received by the State Game Commission stated that three does had been killed since Monday, one in the South Mountain near Mont Alto one near Millintown and one in Pike county. The game wardens who reported the facts were at once instructed to get busy and hunt the men who violated the law, and prosecute them to the limit. There is no doubt of their being caught, as they left traces that can be followed up. The does were sent to the nearest hospitals.

CORRECT FOR EITHER IN-DOOR OR OUT-OF-DOOR WEAR

Since, to a degree, simplicity is the rule this season, many of the well-cut designs, showing long, straight lines, are equally as appropriate for afternoon teas and matinees as for street wear. A fact that makes for economy and a saving of time as well.

The lines of the "new" figure show a more or less of a slope to the shoulders and broad lines in waist and hips and often at the knees. 7789 and 7710 is especially suited to these lines, showing, as it does, the drop-shoulder and a slight fullness at the waist. A bit of drapery on each side of the skirt is modish and graceful.

The frilling of net filling in the neck and the diagonal closing of the blouse is another effective touch.

One of those quaintly figured stuffs that fairly "make" a gown is used here. The design could also be fashioned of one of the modish velvets or rattles effectively. A figured charmeuse or a brocaded satin are also good suggestions if the frock is intended solely for afternoons. An attractive folded girdle in a bright, harmonious shade and an inset of the same satin at the bottom of the skirt are individual notes that give distinction.

PANAMA FELONS HOPE FOR PARDON

Expect Amnesty in Honor of Canal's Completion.

TWO RECENTLY SET FREE.

Convicts in the Zone Are Set to Work on the Roads and Are Not Badly Treated—Charges of Cruelty Found to Be Greatly Exaggerated—Prison "Movies" and Music.

The pardoning of two Americans confined in the canal zone penitentiary gives rise to the belief that it is the intention of the administration at Washington to grant a general amnesty to canal zone prisoners in honor of the completion of the Panama canal.

The idea of a general amnesty is not based upon official information, but upon the fact that the administration at Washington has chosen to pardon two of the most conspicuous prisoners of canal times. One of these, Frank Houston, was sentenced about six months ago to ten years' imprisonment for a crime committed about a year ago at Gatun.

One day Houston, on returning from work, started to light a fire in the kitchen stove and found there parts of a letter addressed to his wife. He patched them together and discovered that it was a love letter written by a fellow canal worker named Harry Stern. Without waiting to investigate he took down his shotgun, hunted for the man and killed him.

Deprived of Trial by Jury.

Owing to the impossibility of convicting an American of murder in the canal zone after a jury trial the prosecuting attorney charged Houston with murder in the second degree, thus depriving him of a jury trial, for only capital offenses may be tried by jury in the canal zone. The court found him guilty and gave him a ten years' sentence. His attorneys appealed on the ground that he had committed first degree murder or no crime and that he was entitled to a jury trial.

The supreme court of the canal zone confirmed the judgment of the lower court, one of the three justices dissenting. Four days after the supreme court handed down its decision word came from Washington to pardon Houston.

The other prisoner pardoned at the same time was Frank Pilson. While in a position of trust as money order clerk at the Cristobal postoffice Pilson embezzled money over a period of two years, stealing in each instance a small amount. His victims were men and women whose ignorance made them easy prey—namely, European and negro laborers on the canal who bought money orders to send home and Hindu peddlers who took this means of transmitting money for payment of goods to various merchants in Hindustan.

Pilson was convicted and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and when pardoned had served half of his term.

There are about 150 prisoners in the penitentiary of the canal zone, most of them convicted of crimes less serious than those of Houston and Pilson. Due to influence of friends of Houston and Pilson the severe regime of the canal zone penitentiary has recently been brought to the attention of the authorities, and a movement has been begun to alleviate the condition of the prisoners.

Meetings are now held every Sunday at the stockade, at which the men hear music and watch moving pictures. Occasionally some important official of the canal force delivers an address.

Cruelty Charges Exaggerated.

Charges of cruelty in the discipline of prisoners have been investigated by Richard Lee Metcalfe, a member of the Isthmian canal commission, and have been found greatly exaggerated.

The canal zone system is admittedly penal, the idea of correction not entering at all into the scheme. Felons are considered to be in debt to the community, and they are set at work building roads.

Inasmuch as most of the felons are negroes who have been laborers on the canal work, they make very good road builders, and the pleasant highways along the banks of the canal over which tourists speed in automobiles are evidence of this.

They are imprisoned in a stockade near to the work on which they are engaged and at present are at Gamboa, where they are constructing a highway along the east bank of Culebra cut. They are given coarse food, but enough of it, to eat to sleep upon, a holiday on Sunday (which is spent, however, in the stockade) and are made to work on the highways ten hours a day.

Soldiers' Debt For Jewels.

Bills aggregating $1,000,000 for jewelry charged against enlisted men of the army have been forwarded to the war department in Washington by a large installment jewelry company on the Pacific coast, with an appeal for Uncle Sam's aid in collecting the indebtedness. The department has declined to act as collector, and the creditors' only resource is to proceed against the individual soldiers. How much more jewelry the soldiers may have paid for is conjectural.

DESTROY AUTOS THAT TAKE LIFE

Professor's Plan to Decrease Highway Accidents.

PRECEDENTS IN ANTIQUITY.

The Ancient Ax That Killed Was Accused and Cast Into a Lake, Says Professor F. H. Giddings of Columbia University—Why Not the Auto? A "Deadend."

When any one is run down and killed by an automobile in any of our highways, would it not be a good idea for the community to seize and destroy the automobile?

This is the interesting suggestion made by Professor Franklin H. Giddings of Columbia university as one way of stopping or, at least, of materially lessening the number of highway accidents that represent a comparatively new evil in our community life. The steadily increasing number of such automobile killings bears witness to the fact that we have not yet learned to cope successfully with this evil. Motorcars ranging from the omnipresent taxicabs to the thundering, street shaking mail trucks dealt death on the streets of New York alone in 132 cases in the first nine months of this year, according to a recent compilation made by the clerk of the coroners' court there.

What the list totals in other cities and in motor traveled districts throughout the country it is impossible to guess.

Make Cars That Kill "Deadends."

"The American cares little about his own life and little about the lives of others," observes Professor Giddings, "but I think the street accidents would tend to stop if the car that killed were a deadend."

That last word goes back to the early English law. A deadend was a thing which, because it had been the immediate cause of the death of a person, was given to God or, more accurately, forfeited to the crown, to be applied to such pious uses as the distribution in alms. For instance, if a cart ran over a man and killed him it was forfeited as a deadend. Deadends are unknown in American law, says Webster, but they were not abolished in England until 1846. And now, says Professor Giddings, why not forfeit the car that kills?

It might be pointed out that nothing could rival the memorial antiquity of the customs and feelings of taboo and avoidance that would be the source and give the same solidity to such a law.

Its parallel could be found in old Hebrew law. The ax that killed in early social history was a thing accursed, and it will be recalled with interest that in a very recent case in New York city an example of this ancient feeling played an important part in the outcome of the trial.

Shoe Last Aids In Conviction.

One Gregorio Giordano, accused of the murder of his wife, was believed to have killed her with the shoe last which was found near her body. His record from this object when it was produced in court and his reluctance to touch it are said to have added conclusive weight to the accusation in the minds of the jurors.

The accused ax or hatchet of long ago was solemnly consigned to the waters of a lake. It was forfeit because it had killed. So, too, that other early variety of property, the slave, was accursed and destroyed if he killed a fellow slave. Later the master stepped in and redeemed him with a money payment, and from this, so say the sociologists, grew the doctrine of the employer's responsibility for injuries caused by a fellow employee.

In the matter of street accidents, then, it is suggested that we might find a new and important and practical field wherein the taboo feeling could function.

BUTT-MILLET MEMORIAL.

Fountain to Titanic Victims to Be Erected Near White House.

Plans will be completed in the near future for the dedication of a fountain erected south of the White House in honor of the memories of Major Archibald W. Butt, former White House military attaché, and Francis D. Millet, painter and author, who lost their lives in the Titanic disaster early in 1912. Announcement of the completion of the fountain has just been made in Washington. Former President Taft is chairman of the committee which raised the fund for the erection.

The fountain is small, but artistic. It includes a large bowl of Tennessee marble, from the center of which rises a shaft to the height of twelve feet. The water is thrown aloft from four globes, brimming over the sides of the bowl in a cascade.

International Suffrage Club Forming.

Plans have just been launched in Washington for the formation of an international woman suffrage club, to be run along strictly social lines and to include people in favor of votes for women from all countries. Similar organizations exist in London and other large capitals. The plans are expected to take definite shape in the near future.

Twin Mysteries.

Among the mysteries unfathomable are why a man wants to wear side whiskers and why a city wants to hold a world's fair.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Which Won?

By EDNA ELLIS

Miss Van Winkle was a very pretty girl with mild blue eyes, through which she saw very distinctly till an oculist ordered her to wear glasses. She was troubled with headaches, and the glasses were intended to correct astigmatism.

One day while walking on the street she met Bob Schofield, and at the moment of passing the light, striking on her glasses, got in the way of her eyesight, and she cut him dead. The next time they were together he asked her what he had done to offend her. She was very much surprised and wished to know what he meant, whereupon he told her that she had passed him on the street without speaking to him.

"That must have been when I began to wear glasses," she said. "I've got quite used to them now, and you will have no further cause for complaint on that score."

Nevertheless the next time Miss Van Winkle met Mr. Schofield she cut him again. Whether it was due to her glasses or preoccupation or what it was he did not know, but he was quite sure it was unintentional.

A few evenings after this second cut he called at the lady's house and was received graciously. He made no reference to her having ignored his presence a second time, but during his call asked her if she had got used to her glasses.

"Quite so," she replied. "I can see better than without them, and I now seldom have a headache."

"Do you think if you passed me on the street you would recognize me?"

"Of course I would."

"I doubt it."

"What do you mean? Do you know my eyes better than I?"

"I don't believe you can see a church in the middle of the street."

"Well, I never! My eyesight is as good as yours."

"I'll bet you the next time I meet you in the street you won't know me."

"I'd know you from your twin brother, if you had one."

Now, Mr. Schofield had no twin brother, but he had a cousin, Ernest Brown, for whom he had often been mistaken. When Miss Van Winkle spoke of a twin brother Bob thought of his cousin, Ernest Brown, and straightway began to lay for the young lady in a very mean, contemptible and dishonest manner.

"I'll tell you what I'll do. You walk down Hilton avenue tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. I'll meet you with another fellow. I'll bet you a pound of candy you can't pick me out from him."

"I take the bet."

"I mean I'll bet you a pound of candy! I don't want any candy myself; you must cover my stake with something else."

"Cigars?"

"No, a kiss."

"What impudence!"

"Very well; I withdraw the offer."

The scamp knew very well that she would come to his terms in time and she did. It was not that she coveted the candy; we are all sensitive to any physical imperfection in ourselves, and he had ruffled her as to her eyesight. She agreed to his terms, and a condition was added that when about twenty feet distant she should bow to the man she believed to be Bob, they walking far enough apart to prevent any doubt in the matter. The terms having been "signed, sealed and delivered," they separated.

Mr. Schofield went straight to his cousin and told him of his bet and explained the terms, asking Brown to help him out. Brown agreed to do so, and the next morning they met at a tailoring establishment and bought twin suits. Then they went to a barber and had their hair and beards trimmed exactly alike. When they had finished their process of making themselves alike—hats, scarfs, suits, gloves and boots were exactly similar—Bob hoped that he had a chance of winning, though he feared the odds were against him.

At exactly 4 o'clock the two men started from one end of Hilton avenue, while Miss Van Winkle was emerging from her home near the other. She was very confident of being able to tell Bob from his friend, though she took every precaution, even cleaning her glasses with a compound of alcohol and ammonia. But she expected to see them each dressed in his own way and did not count on a similarity of apparel. She had gone but a few blocks, keeping her eyes fixed on every approaching figure, when she saw the two men coming. It did not occur to her that either of them was Bob until she came within the distance that she was to make the decision. Not being able to designate the true and only Bob, she passed them without bowing to either. Then each party turned.

"I don't care," pouted Miss Van Winkle; "that wasn't fair at all. You had no right to dress alike."

"My cousin, Mr. Brown, Miss Van Winkle," said Bob. His double lifted his hat deferentially and asked if the bet was to be paid there and then. At which Miss Van Winkle glared at him, and he, leaving her with Bob, withdrew.

The bet was paid that same evening at Miss Van Winkle's home, and the kiss tasted so good that Bob must have another and to get it he must make an out and out proposal, which he did. After all, the girl won.

Compliment.

"My wife paid me a fine compliment this morning!" triumphantly stated skimpily little Mr. Hennypeck. "She said I was almost as big a fool as her first husband."—Judge.

CHOOSING CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR THE MEN

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

When it comes to selecting things for men two facts should be borne in mind. Men appreciate whatever adds to their personal comfort and they are attracted by things that are convenient and useful rather than by mere prettiness.

Here are pictured a few of the many attractive things, made of cretonne, which will be appreciated by the men folk.

The closet bag shown in the picture is made of cretonne having a white ground with red roses and green foliage. White tape serves to bind the edges and fasten the compartments to the back. A yard of cretonne is required for it. It is fourteen inches wide and the remainder of the yard will make the compartments with enough left over to cover a pin cushion.

ion or make one of the other small pieces.

The waste paper basket is made by pasting cretonne to a heavy pasteboard foundation and the lining may be of cambric or paper. Four sides are cut out and covered with cretonne. The lining is pasted over in one piece, holding the sides together. Or the pieces may be covered separately and afterward tied together with narrow ribbon.

The small box for handkerchiefs or ties is made by pasting cretonne over a strong pasteboard box. The top is padded with a sheet of cotton wadding. A set of three boxes for ties, gloves, handkerchiefs, with a larger one for shoes, makes an elegant present where one wishes to give so much. But one single box will be appreciated.

The traveling case is cut from rubber cloth first and compartments are sewed to it for the wash-rag and soap, tooth and nail brush. White tape is used to bind the several pieces. The case is then covered with cretonne bound to the rubber cloth with tape machine-stitched over the edges. This convenient case fastens with a snap fastener such as is used on gloves.

She'll Learn.

Clarence—"What do you think? Helen had the nerve to tell me that she believes about half of what I tell her." Maud—"Oh! well, she's still young and credulous."

MODERN HIDE AND SEEK.

Hide and seek games are splendid to play in a barn or large garden because there are so many fine dark nooks and corners in which a child may hide. There is a new way of playing hide and seek, just the opposite from the old familiar game. The player who is "it" goes away to hide instead of blindfold, while all the other players remain at the goal. While one counts 100 they must all blind their eyes. At the end of the counting the players all hunt for the hider. As soon as one discovers his hiding place he must squeeze in and hide there too. If there isn't room he must take a seat in plain sight near the hiding place. The player who is unable to discover the hiding place is "it" for the next game. This game will last an entire afternoon until dusk comes and the children decide that the thing they most want to do is to go to the house for tea.

Medical Advertising STRENGTH FOR OLD PEOPLE

A Simple Remedy Which Favors Longevity.

You act as though you just wondered how you are going to get through this trying season and do your work.

You may be overworked or have had a bad cold which has left you without strength, ambition or much interest in life; in fact you are all run-down.

Let us tell you that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is just the remedy you need to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My mother, who is 76 years of age, owes her good health to Vinol as since taking it she can walk farther and do more than she has for years. I consider it a wonderful blood making and strength creating tonic."

We have such faith in Vinol that if it does not quickly build you up, restore your strength and make you feel well again, we will return your money.

WHAT'S THE REASON

Many Gettysburg People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause.

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with back-ache and headache; suffer from nervousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills—endorsed by people all over the country and by your neighbors in Gettysburg.

George Reidinger, Hanover St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been beneficial when I have taken them and I recommend them for kidney complaint. My kidneys bothered me for years, causing pain in my back and sides. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. I felt better right away and was soon cured. Since then, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills several times and they have always done good work."

FOR THE CHILDREN

Salt-peter Magic.

Few things will create more interest for a simple home entertainment in the evening for young people than what is known as salt-peter magic. It will arouse their curiosity to the highest point when tried before boys and girls who have never heard of it before and will "keep them guessing" for a long time.

Dissolve salt-peter in water until the water will take up no more. Then take the end of a penholder or any small stick, dip it in the solution and write some word in thick letters on a piece of light paper.

You must take pains to see that every letter is joined together so that there is a continuous line. If you write more than one word on the paper they must be connected. Now let the paper dry and the writing will be invisible. Fold down half an inch at either end of the paper so that you can make it stand on one edge. Now set it upright on a platter or something which will not catch fire and apply the tip of a bit of lighted punk to where the word begins, over which you have previously made a tiny mark.

You will see a tiny glowworm of fire travel all along the lines traced, not stopping until the complete word is burned out. No other part of the paper will be destroyed. If you can prepare several pieces of paper in advance, put on the names of your guests, being careful, of course, to remember that there must be no break in the line.

A Trick For Boys.

Most boys like to do tricks of magic and "sleight of hand," so here is a very simple trick that any one of you can do after a little practice. It is called "spinning the handkerchief."

Of course you wouldn't use your own handkerchief. Ask some boy to lend you his, and pretend to select one with great care, saying, "It is first of all necessary to get the right kind of handkerchief." After you have picked out one throw it in the air, catch it on the end of a stick that you are twirling, and when the handkerchief spreads out to its full size spin it around rapidly.

The secret of being able to do this is that there is a needle or pin in the end of the stick, which catches the handkerchief and prevents it from falling off. The pin should be put in so that the sharp point extends out about a half inch.

The stick should have a smooth surface, so that it will rotate easily in the hand. If it is polished or varnished so much the better. It will require a little practice before you are able to catch the handkerchief in the middle and with the pin going through one thickness only. If it goes through two or three thicknesses a fold results and your audience will notice the pin. You need to do some practicing before attempting to do this trick in public.

Honesty in School.

"You and I know that there are boys and girls, too, who crib," writes Walter Prichard Eaton, taking up a delicate but important subject in an article on "The Scout in School" in Boys' Life.

"A girl in my class had a geography under her feet covered by her skirt in an examination and kept dropping her pencil. She got 98, and I never had any use for her after that."

"A good scout will never crib. A good scout ought never to have any use for a boy or girl who does crib."

"I don't mean that you should squeal on a cribber. There is a better way than that."

"Just let him know what you think of him, and just let him understand that he is no better than any other liar; that he has stolen, not money, but a good mark, which is just as bad. Scouts should lead in school in creating a sentiment for honesty, for honor. If you do that by and by nobody will dare to crib, and you will have brought this about yourselves without turning squealer and going to the teacher."

The Bird Sellers.

A jolly game for children is called "The bird sellers." Arrange the players in a row, leaving two outside. These two are to represent the bird buyers. Give to each child the name of some bird. One will be a crow, one a crane, another a canary, etc. One bird dealer says to the other:

"I wish to buy a bird."

"What kind?" inquires the other.

"A bird that can fly swiftly," says the first buyer.

"Very well, take what you wish."

"Then," says the first buyer, "I'll take a robin."

As soon as he says this the "robin" child must jump out of the row and run around, trying to escape. If the dealer catches the bird the captured one stays until the other "birds" have been selected and caught.

The Elephant and His Trunk.

A large paper elephant minus his trunk is tacked on the wall, then to each child is given a paper trunk and a pin. Each in turn is blindfolded, taken to the end of the room and turned around three times and started toward the elephant. The one who pins the trunk on nearest the proper place is given a prize.

Four Hidden Birds.

Don't mark, it excites the baby. The mud was ankle deep. How rents have gone up. Where is Nero, Binks?

Answers.—Kite, emu, wren, robin.

THE INCREASING POPULARITY OF THE PEG-TOP

Much of the smartness and grace of the modish broad waist and hip lines is embodied in the peg-top skirt which tapers to a narrow footline, making the effect still more pleasing.

Especially suited to these skirts are the "pile" fabrics, velours, velvets and velvetines. They are thick yet light in weight and aid greatly in bringing out in their folds the loose unfitted effects desired.

7812 shows a peg-top skirt and a blouse with a drop-shoulder, which is another smart detail of many of the new designs. An inset vest which may be of broad or embroidery is a pretty feature of this design.

MAN WHO MAKES GOOD ON LYCEUM PROGRAM

Andrew Johnson, Relative of President, is Great Orator.

When Dr. Andrew Johnson, formerly of Tennessee, now of Philadelphia, appears in our city, one of the South's most gifted speakers will be heard. Dr. Johnson has held noted pastorates for the past ten years, doing much lecturing each year, but now is devoting all his time to the Lyceum platform. He will lecture in nearly every state in the Union this season, his subjects being of a popular nature.

The story of how he secured an education is inspiring. He was left an orphan thirteen years of age, and while thrown entirely upon his own resources he graduated from his state university at the age of 24. If all young men could hear how he worked his way through college it is to be doubted if they would become so easily discouraged when the road seems rough.

Out of his experiences he has built a lecture—the only kind that is likely to inspire—that he calls "Ell and Dennis," which he will deliver here. It is a lecture every young man and woman should hear and a large attendance of pupils from the upper grades and the high school is especially desired. Adults will find much in the lecture for them—it is the kind that inspires old as well as young.

PARLOR MAGIC.

Few Simple and Easy Tricks That Will Mystify Children.

To entertain children at Christmas time it is a good idea to show them some magic tricks. The little ones will wonder at them and enjoy the afternoon or evening very greatly. Following are a few simple tricks which any amateur may perform:

Take a penny or a dime and place it in the hollow of your hand. Now, with the other disengaged hand take a clothes brush or a hat brush and try to dislodge or move the coin from the hand by the action of brushing it. Try and try again, you will find out it cannot be done. Remember you must only brush the coin in trying to remove it.

Take a linen or cotton handkerchief devoid of cologne or perfume the sure of this. Place the center of the handkerchief over an ordinary gas jet. Pull the handkerchief down tight, making sure it lies flat and even over the gas jet. Turn on the gas full up, apply a lighted match, holding it a few inches above the jet, and the gas will immediately ignite and burn as brightly as though there was no handkerchief in the way. Do not allow it to burn too long, as the handkerchief is liable to become scorched, not from the flame, but from the heated gas tip. The gas easily penetrates through the meshes of the handkerchief, and the flame from the gas tip burns above the tip at least a half to a full inch and not close to it, as a person might suppose, and that explains the mystery.

A very deceptive optical illusion is accomplished by the use of a large china plate. Sitting at one side of the table, you rest the plate on your knee so that about one-third of it shows above the table. Take a knife in both hands and rest it on the plate. If you now lower and raise the knees alternately, quickly and evenly, it gives a motion to the plate as if it were actually revolving round. In fact, it is so illusive that to the operator himself it has that same appearance.

It is an accepted theory that a solid metallic body cannot float, but one can disprove that saying by causing an ordinary steel needle to remain on the water and not sink. Take a needle and make sure that it is devoid of moisture and perfectly dry. Gently place it carefully on the surface of the water, remove the hand just as carefully, and if you are fortunate the needle will be seen floating as if it were a bit of wood instead of steel. If the hand is not steady the needle can be lowered to the water by two loops of thread or on the prongs of a fork. Failing in either of these methods, put the needle on a piece of cigarette paper, which you place on the water. As soon as the paper becomes saturated it sinks to the bottom, but the needle remains floating placidly on the water.

TAPEWORMS, A POULTRY PEST

An internal pest that destroys poultry is the tapeworm.

Six now known species attack American poultry besides those of the infest birds. Pigeons and turkeys are special victims.

Five hundred have been found one pigeon; 12,000 eggs have been counted in a pigeon's excrement twenty-four hours. They breed in the intestines are their parturition breeding and feeding ground, a sometimes stuffed from gizzard anus with thousands. A tapeworm does not hatch in the fowl, the eggs are dropped in excrement and taken up by slugs, snails, worms, insects and crustaceans and in their intermediate host, they change to larvae and are swallowed with the host by the fowl in which they develop to an adult worm.

Tapeworms are segmentary, are provided with suckers and possess hooks by which they cling and hang, he down, in the intestines. Epidemics are more common in wet weather, damp filthy ground and foul pools a special breeding places.

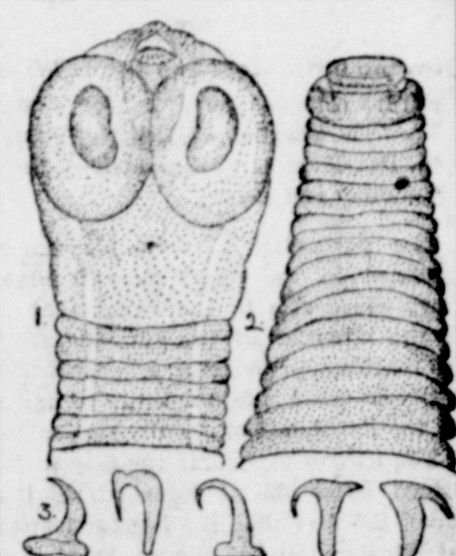

Symptoms are rather akin to tuberculous, extreme emaciation and no rules being present.

Vitelline eats heartily at first, then loses appetite, ruffles plumage, droops wings, stands solitary, has intense thirst for cold water, straddles legs, voids frequent scanty, yellow, bloody feces and wastes away to death.

The surest way to diagnose is to examine excrement for segments, eggs with a microscope and to slit open the whole digestive tract in water where the worms will be found hanging head down.

Excrement should be destroyed at houses and runs thoroughly clean and disinfected.

Affected waterfowl get the pest from water crustaceans and should be kept in clean water.

Drawn by C. M. Barnitz.

Mash fragrant with garlic or turpentine is fine remedy. Powdered pomegranate root (a teaspoonful every forty fowls) is good. To stop quick and sure treat birds individually by passing remedy down rubber tube to crop and use one to three teaspoonfuls of turpentine and equal part olive oil, according to age of fowl. Peas soaked in wormwood are recommended for pigeons.

MURDOCK HAS 3 ANTI-TRUST BILLS

Presented in Congress Today by Progressive

SAYS THEY SOLVE PROBLEM

He Declares They Will Wipe Out Monopoly, Establish Fair Competition and Relieve Courts of Much Work.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Victor Murdock, Progressive leader in the house of representatives, introduced in the house today three bills which embody Progressive principles.

The bills are the production of Mr. Murdock, Dean William Draper Lewis, of the University of Pennsylvania law school; Herbert Knox Smith, former commissioner of corporations, and Donald R. Richberg, director of the Progressive national legislative reference bureau.

The bill to establish an interstate trade commission provides for seven members, each receiving a salary of $10,000 a year. The bureau of corporations will be superseded by the commission. The commissioners are to be appointed, and can be removed by the president. Every corporation with annual gross receipts of more than $3,000,000 shall be subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, which shall make full inquiry into the organization, and shall work to stamp out over-capitalization, unfair competition, misrepresentation and improper use of credit. The commission will have the power to take sworn testimony in its inquiries, with powers to punish refusals to testify, will have power to subpoena books and examine thoroughly any department of the corporations within its jurisdiction.

The second bill confers further wide powers on the interstate trade commission. It allows the commission to prevent corporations from engaging in unfair or oppressive competition. It confers on the commission power to make regulations defining unfair or oppressive competition, and to obtain injunctions from the courts prohibiting a corporation which violates the orders of the commission from engaging in interstate or foreign commerce.

The third bill gives the commission power to investigate any corporation for the purpose of ascertaining whether it has a monopoly on its business and if it is ascertained that such is the case, the commission is empowered to "determine by such further investigation as may be necessary whether such monopolistic power is based primarily on artificial or on natural bases."

Whenever the commission determines that a corporation is exercising monopolistic power, based on artificial bases, it shall be the duty of the commission to end the monopolistic power. In case of the refusal of a corporation to comply with an order the commission shall apply to the courts for an injunction.

"These three bills are the most advanced proposals for a solution of the nation's greatest problems," said Mr. Murdock. "They will accomplish three things: they will wipe out monopoly, will establish fair competition, and will relieve the courts of administrative functions in business regulation."

HER SODA WATER CARBOLIC

Boarder Committed Without Bail on a Serious Charge.

Riverside, N. J., Nov. 17.—Charged with trying to entrap his landlady into drinking a quart of carbolic acid by telling her it was soda water, Herman Helfritz, of Riverside, was held without bail for the grand jury after Magistrate Zeigler had listened to the amazing story told by Emma Westcott, his accuser.

The woman said that she believed the prisoner, who is an alien who recently came to this country and came to board at her home, had become jealous when he saw her talking to a visitor.

He became morose, but asked her to take a drink with him. When she noticed the odor of acid in what he told her was lemon soda and refused to drink, she alleged the man tried to pour the acid down her throat. She broke away, and after two persons had ignored her appeals for assistance, she summoned Policeman Vossell, who arrested Helfritz.

New Home For Dove of Peace. Washington, Nov. 17.—The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has paid $150,000 for two houses at Jackson Place and Pennsylvania avenue, opposite the White House, and will remodel them for its permanent office.

Lone Bandit Holds Up Train. San Francisco, Nov. 17.—A lone bandit held up a Southern Pacific passenger train from Chicago near Richmond across the bay from San Francisco. Five passengers and three trainmen were robbed of jewelry and about $1000 in money.

Grieving For Dead Wife, Ends Life. Baltimore, Md., Nov. 17.—Despondent over the death of his wife a year ago, Conrad Schissler, seventy-three years old, a baker, committed suicide in the kitchen of his home by hanging himself from a rafter.

A new rare escape resembles a gigantic tape measure, as it consists of a steel ribbon that unrolls from within a circular casing as a person descends while seated in a sling at its end.

KILLS HER TWO CHILDREN

Woman Falls at Suicide and Is Arrested For Murder.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 17.—Suspended by a belt from a nail in the home of her father, Wilhelm Seabolt, in Portage, Mrs. Amelia Banks was cut down in time to save her life.

On a bed lay the bodies of her two sons, aged three and four years, each with his neck broken. Mrs. Banks, after being revived, was lodged in the Cambria county jail, charged with murder.

The woman wrote to her husband in Bisbee, Ariz., telling her need of money. There was no response. Mrs. Banks wrote a second time, telling her husband that if no money was received within ten days she would kill herself and their two children. The ten days expired on Sunday.

FATAL WALK IN SLEEP

Student Tumbles From Dormitory Window and Is Killed.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 17.—John A. R. Lannon, of Louisville, Ky., a Yale sophomore, fell from a second-story window in Durfee hall, at Yale, while walking in his sleep and was killed.

The body was found by a milkman. The medical examiner declared that he had been dead two hours.

Edwin Stein, Lannon's roommate, was unaware of the accident. He said Lannon was a somnambulist and on two other occasions had nearly fallen from windows.

PLAN U. S. OIL PLANT TO BEAT THE TRUST

Secretary Daniels to Ask Congress to Aid Scheme.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The administration will back, and congress is expected to legalize promptly, this winter, plans of Secretary of the Navy Daniels for the government to own oil wells and refine petroleum for use in oil-burning naval vessels, as well as the secretary's plans to build many of those vessels in government yards and make the armor for them in its own plant.

The secretary's purpose to enter the oil business has been disclosed in a letter sent to Senator Tillman, chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, urging that at the regular session of congress legislation be enacted which will enable the government to acquire oil fields of the Osage nation in Oklahoma, and to erect an oil refinery where the crude petroleum can be refined, thus relieving the government from dependence on private oil companies, and especially the Standard Oil.

In his letter to Senator Tillman the secretary points out that the price of refined petroleum has more than doubled in a year, and that from the economic standpoint the proposed scheme will be good business policy, in thus rendering the government independent for many years to come, if not indefinitely.

The secretary had hoped that he might acquire leases on oil lands in the Osage nation without resort to congress, and sought to secure leases on the desired lands through the interior department. But Secretary of the Interior Lane, while in full sympathy with the purpose of the navy department, held that under the law the government, like every one else, must acquire its oil leases from the Indians through competitive bidding, unless congress enacted special legislation providing otherwise.

KILL 100 DEER IN LYCOMING

Happy Hunters Have Finest Trophies in Many Years.

Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 17.—Scores of deer were shipped into Williamsport as trophies of hundreds of Lycoming county hunters during the first week of the present season.

Many of the head bucks were sent on to eastern cities, consigned to their owners, many of whom hunted in Lycoming county.

More than 100 deer were killed in the county, and the famous Trout run region and Pine Creek district yielded the greatest number in years.

A party of five hunters from the eastern part of Pennsylvania came in from the Canaan region, each with a fine buck.

Hunter Shot Dead For Deer.

Milford, Pa., Nov. 17.—While hunting in the White Deer mountains, young B. O. Shaffer, of this place, was mistaken by another hunter for a deer and shot dead.

Woman Dies at Age of 104.

Vineland, N. J., Nov. 17.—The oldest woman in southern New Jersey died at the age of 104 years. She was Mrs. Charlotte Campbell, who was born in Weymouth, Atlantic county, and never had been out of the state. She was the mother of ten children, four of whom survive her.

Wife of 14 Becomes a Mother.

Shamokin, Pa., Nov. 17.—Mrs. Mary Orley, fourteen years old, gave birth to a child at the Shamokin hospital and is thought to be the youngest mother in the state. She was married a year ago to a man twelve years her senior.

Betrayed by Pet Dog.

Des Arc, Ark., Nov. 17.—A little yellow dog led to the arrest of Belle Gelaney, fifty years old, on a charge of murdering John Howard, a pearl.

PROMISED GIRL CANDY; NOW BOTH MISSING

Man Who Abducted Child Eludes Police.

Washington, Nov. 17.—With the police and ten eastern cities on the trail and handicapped by the presence of his child companion and distinctive features, Louis T. Donville, alias Thomas L. Emmons, wanted by the Washington police on charges of abduction and larceny, has so far eluded his pursuers.

Donville and seven-year-old Harriet Grant, whom he is alleged to have abducted from the Grant home at 40 C street, Northwest, have been traced to Baltimore by headquarters detectives, but there the trail was lost.

Detailed descriptions of the pair, with their photographs, are being rushed to all the big eastern cities, particularly on the Canadian border. It is feared that Donville, a Canadian, may elude the border guardians and cross the line.

Under the name of Thomas L. Emmons, Donville, who is not nineteen years old, had lived since last July with Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Grant. On Friday he left the house with little Harriet, saying that he was going to buy her candy. They never returned.

The girl's parents are frantic and are beseeching the police for news. Detective Burlingame traced Donville and his companion to Baltimore on the electric train that left Washington at 11:05 a. m. Friday. Conductor German and Moorman Casap each gave an accurate description of Donville and the girl. They left the train at the Baltimore terminal and then disappeared.

INTO MINE FLOOD TO RESCUE

Comrade's Heroic Work Just as Partner's Mules Drown.

Centralla, Pa., Nov. 17.—In a thrilling accident at the Continental colliery, Joseph Flick rescued Frank Victor from drowning.

The two young men live at Mount Carmel and were employed as drivers at the Continental. Victor was driving a pair of mules when he was driving past a number of old breasts, when the top of one of them caved in from the pressure of an immense body of water in a mine breach on the surface.

The water broke through to the gangway, caught the driver and his mules, and Flick crawled through a heading, entered the gangway and arrived just in time to save Victor, as three mules were drowned.

TO FREE 180 CONVICTS

Parole Granted to Many Prisoners in Western Penitentiary.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 17.—The prison board of parole of the western penitentiary took favorable action upon the applications of 180 convicts for freedom under provisions of the act passed by the last legislature.

They will be released to spend their Thanksgiving wherever they desire.

An entire outfit has been provided for each prisoner. This consists of a suit of clothes, hat, shoes, underwear and a necktie. Every man will also be given $10 in cash, as provided by the new parole law.

CIVIC PRIDE IN SCHOOLS.

How Cincinnati Worked to Make Its Youngsters Become Boosters.

The Cincinnati chamber of commerce recently conducted a contest in the public and parochial schools for the best essay on "What I Can and Will Do to Make Cincinnati a Bigger and Better City."

As helps to the youngsters in shaping their essays this advice was given: When you buy candy insist that it be candy made in Cincinnati.

Urge your parents to make their purchases in Cincinnati stores and insist on having goods made in Cincinnati.

By keeping in mind that every dollar expended for a Cincinnati made article helps to increase our factories that give employment to thousands of people and make possible the building of more homes, more churches, more schools, more store and office buildings and more money in taxation for parks and playgrounds and other improvements.

You can help make Cincinnati better and more beautiful by not throwing litter in the streets and asking your companions to be more careful in these things wherever possible.

By always saying a good word for Cincinnati especially to strangers.

Learn as much as you can about your home city, so that you can talk intelligently about it.

Mention the good points of the city when you write to out of town friends or relatives or when they come to see you.

By forming clubs of other students to visit manufacturing industries and other places of interest about the city.

By always being a booster.

COURSE FOR STOREKEEPERS.

Kansas College Plans to Teach Would Be Proprietors.

A course in the management of a country store is to be inaugurated in one of the state educational institutions, probably the Kansas State Agricultural college at Manhattan, according to an announcement from the board of administration of state educational institutions.

Among the subjects proposed for the new course are:

Writing advertising for country weeklies.

Decorating store windows.

Attractive interior display of goods.

Handling customers.

Pushing certain lines of goods.

Points on buying.

Baked Pickarel.

Cut out the backbone of a good sized pickarel and all the small bones which can be removed without tearing the flesh too much or getting the fish out of shape.

Brush the fish with lemon juice and olive oil and let it stand about an hour. Then put very thin slices of pork across a rack in a dripping pan and place the fish skin side down over the pork.

Brush with pork drippings and bake in a covered pan for forty minutes. Baste it once or twice while cooking, and serve with maitre d'hotel butter prepared thus: Four tablespoonfuls of butter, one of vinegar, one of lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoonful pepper, one teaspoonful chopped parsley. Beat the butter to a cream, and gradually beat in the seasoning, the parsley last of all. This sauce is nice with all kinds of fish and also with beefsteak.
